Estate Planning for faithful Catholics should include much more than mere instructions for the legal disposition of your worldly possessions. All too often, family members must make very difficult decisions when a loved one is disabled or dies. Many times the most difficult questions pertain to issues regarding our Catholic faith, especially when not all members of the extended family are actively involved in the Catholic Church.

Brad Hahn is a national teacher on estate planning and has a law office in Tempe who implements Catholic beliefs into his estate planning. Brad is active in ministry at St. Timothy Parish in Mesa where he serves on the Pastoral Council. Brad also assists a variety of Catholic charities in their endowment efforts. He is the author of the book A Disciples Call: Fulfilling Our Family Stewardship and Estate Planning.
